Straight Talk Accountants Need

By Terry Cleve

As public accountants we think we are God's gift to business, but in fact as a profession we tend to be weak at running our business. Rob has a great understanding of the stereotypical practice and comes at this in a direct, easy to read action plan. Listen to what your client's wants and needs, process everything by way of the client's perspective; in other words make your firm culture client focused not firm focused. Then run your firm as a business not a practice.
